Thanks. I knew it started with a 'C.' The only Marks with a C last name that I could think of was Comp and I knew that wasn't right.

FYI – Sounds like a court battle to stop the Dewey-Burdock project is ongoing and depending on how the court rules, or if they accept a compliant, more NEPA may be needed.

Background - In searching the NRC online public documents for the WYDEQ review letter for Ross draft EA (cited in FR notice), I stumbled upon an appeal to the court by Oglala Sioux Tribe in regards to Dewey-Burdock. It appears if the court accepts the petition, there may be additional NEPA work before D-B can operate. It is not clear to me but from reading the complaint it appears the court's previous decision let the license stand although court recognized both NEPA and NHPA were not properly implemented. (not sure I using the proper legal terms)

I will reach out to Valois to find out what she knows, if anything.

Meanwhile, letter providing "no comment on Ross draft EA" from WYDEQ cannot be found. I was curious who they contacted at WYDEQ to review the request related groundwater monitoring. I plan to contact NRC project manager to find out. Assuming they reached out to Mark ? (off hand I can't remember his last name) or someone else who deals with groundwater, but I want to verify.
